Comment: Great site Kevin - it contains many of my ancestors. I descend from the Long's, back to Thomas Long and Mary Bell in the 1700's. My direct line is through John Long and Anne Needham, who had more children than you have on your tree at present. Their son John (twin brother of George) died as a child and they had another son called John b.1889. I descend through his line. Anybody else out there contacted to the Long's as well drop me an e-mail!!

Date: Saturday, 2 April, 2005 at 15:51:35

Comment: I'm amazed!!! Loads of people say to me my surname is unusal where does that come from and low and behold there is loads of Shucksmith's. I was brought up in Lincoln born in a house in Boutham Avenue. My father still lives in the Lincoln area at Bassingham and his a Micheal John James Shucksmith known as John or chuck!!! I also have a brother who is a Kevin Shucksmith who lives at Norwich now and a sister who is a Jane Shucksmith before she got married and became a Grun. I'm based up in Scotland at Oban for the next 3 years studying for a PhD in marine science. So there are a lot of Shucksmith's in Lincolnshire does this mean we are all related in some shape or form?

Date: Monday, 16 February, 2004 at 05:50:20

Comment: I am new to British research. I am interested in the Scaman family of Lincolnshire. My ancestors, Benjamin Scaman Sr. and son Benjamin Scaman Jr. immigrated to America sometime before the 1840s, maybe even the early 1800s, I don't yet know. I have a record that the elder Benjamin married Rebecca Bird on May 21, 1804, at Burwell with Walmsgate, Louth area, Eastcoast Lincolnshire. The Benjamin Scamans finally ended up in Kent Co. Ontario, Canada. I descend from the branch that ended up in Washington state, U.S.A. -Mark Vernon, Seattle, WA.
